Working with ARE, Alliance for Rural Electrification - this year's AidEx will include a Pavilion for buyers of Solar and Off-Grid Energy Equipment to meet suppliers.

AidEx is the world's largest and oldest established event for professionals in aid and development. On November 14-15, our eighth show will attract 2,500 individuals from civil society: government, the EU, UN Agencies, Red Cross and Red Crescent and a large number of NGOs - all organisations that buy Energy-related equipment for rural and wilderness locations.

AidEx combines a top-level conference for which the theme this year is The Digital Revolution and its Impact on Aid and Development. There is also an exhibition of 200+ stands. Buyers will come in large numbers to see all the latest technology impacting the delivery of aid.

Solar products are at the heart of the exhibition and I hope you will consider having an exhibition stand in this Solar Pavilion. The cost is £490 per metre and the smallest space you can have is 2m x 2m. For bookings placed through ARE, there is also a 10% discount.

If this is of interest, please contact:

David Lecoque
ARE Policy and Business Manager
+32 2 709 55 25 - d.lecoque@ruralelec.org

Nicholas Rutherford
AidEx Event Director
+44 (0)20 7886 3036 - nicholas.rutherford@montex.co.uk